Declines Comment On Tito

Grave Fears Over Safety of Airmen On Plane Shot Down in Yugoslavia

By Alex H. Singleton
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—(P)—Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson declined at a news conference today to say whether a United States 48-hour ultimatum to Yugoslavia has been satisfied completely by the release of a group of American airmen.

Neither would he say whether the United States will present its case, involving two attacks by Yugoslav fighter planes on American transports, to the United Nations Security Council for action. To repeated questions on both points he referred reporters to the ultimatum itself, which said the United States government "will determine its course in the light of the evidence" and the efforts of Yugoslavia "to right the wrong done."

Acheson acknowledged there were grave fears over the safety of the occupants of the plane shot down Monday near the summer home of Marshal Tito.

By the emphasis that a full report and explanation will be required in both cases, Tito also has assured U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson that permission would be given American representatives to inspect both U. S. C-47 transports shot down by Yugoslav pilots, the second demand in the ultimatum. One plane was downed near Ljubljana on Aug. 9 and the other near Bleed last Monday.

"The Yugoslav government has promised to give satisfaction," U. S. Embassy officials said after Patterson's two-hour conference at Bleed yesterday with Tito concerning the ultimatum, which required satisfaction within 48 hours with the alternative of air-raiding Yugoslavia before the United Nations.

To inspect Crash Scene
Two American graves Registration representatives were scheduled today to inspect the scene of Monday's crash, amid indications that none of the five crew members survived the fire and explosion which occurred when the ship was forced down.

The foreign office earlier in the week stated that two crew members parachuted but Yugoslav military authorities told the U. S. consul in Zagreb yesterday that no trace had been found of them. The other three presumably perished.

(The Belgrade radio, heard in London, said the entire crew had parachuted, but could not be found). Seven Americans and two Europeans aboard the plane forced down Aug. 9 were released from custody an hour before Tito's conference with Patterson. They had been held in a Ljubljana hotel for almost two weeks. The other passengers, a Turkish captain, was reported recovering in a Ljubljana hospital from wounds suffered by gunfire when the plane was downed.

Internees to Italy

(The nine released men crossed the Morgan line into Venezia Giulia last night and were taken at once to U. S. 88th Division headquarters in Gorizia, Italy. They were reported in excellent physical condition and said they had been well treated while in custody).

Marshal Tito disclosed his "cease fire" orders to his air force in response to a note sent him by two American newspaper correspondents—a representative of the Associated Press and one of the New York Times.

"In the event of further American planes flying over Yugoslav territory without clearance, is the same procedure to be adopted as on Aug. 9 and 19?" the correspondents asked.

"No," said Tito's written reply. "I have given the strictest orders to the Yugoslav Fourth Army commanders not to fire on foreign planes, civil or military, and the procedure is not to be repeated."

Thought Act Was Deliberate

In response to another question, the Yugoslav premier said he thought American planes had deliberately infringed upon Yugoslav frontiers "to create the impression among Yugoslavs that the forces of the United States government are so overwhelming that the Yugoslav government must take everything."

Heavy Cattle Run

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 23—(P)—An estimated 5,000 cattle were marketed in Kansas City today, the largest Friday saleable supply on record. Stockyard officials said the heavy run was an attempt to beat the OPA ceiling price deadline.

Hogs receipts were the heaviest for Friday since June, 1944, with an estimated 3,500 marketed.

Two Killed, Others Injured

HARRISON, Ark., Aug. 23—(P)—Two persons were killed and more than half a dozen others were injured in the collision of a Missouri and Arkansas railway train and a Carnation Milk company truck at a crossing near Harrison at noon today.

Believed Shot Down by Yugoslavs

Three of the five-man crew believed to have been aboard the second U. S. plane shot down near the Yugoslav border by Yugoslav fighters are, left to right, Capt. Ronald H. Clays, pilot; Capt. Harold Farnley Schreiber, co-pilot; and Capt. E. H. Freestone. Although reports have indicated that at least three were killed, it is not known which of the members still are alive. (NEA TELEPHOTO)

News Briefs On Yugoslavia

PARIS, Aug. 23—(P)—The official Yugoslav press agency Tanjug said today that Premier Marshal Tito had decided to reject the American ultimatum.

The Tanjug dispatch appeared in four Paris newspapers today, but the U. S. embassy in Belgrade said the dispatch had not appeared in Belgrade, where the press has "played down" the story of the difficulties between Yugoslavia and the United States.

PARIS, Aug. 23—(P)—An official Yugoslav spokesman said today the Turkish officer-passenger on the U. S. transport shot down Aug. 9 was being held because his "flight over Yugoslavia was not accidental."

This coincided with a six-word dispatch from Belgrade to the French press agency saying that Marshal Tito had decided to reject the United States ultimatum. While some terms of the ultimatum already had been met, Secretary of State Byrnes said the Yugoslav affair was "a pending matter." He added all official United States comment would come from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—(P)—Hopes for the safety of five American flyers shot down by Yugoslav fighters last Monday faded today with a state department report that the Yugoslav Fourth Army had expressed doubt any of them had parachuted to safety.

That note of pessimism was raised as the department, on the basis of a message from its diplomatic representatives at Belgrade, officially confirmed the release of nine occupants of another American army plane which was forced to crash land Aug. 9.

The two incidents led to an ultimatum demanding that Yugoslavia release all the flyers still alive or face an American request for prompt action by the United Nations security council.

GORIZIA, Italy, Aug. 23—(P)—The pilot of the U. S. army transport plane forced down in Yugoslavia two weeks ago said today he failed to understand the signals of two Yugoslav fighter planes which later forced him down with gunfire.

"The fighter planes flew around us a couple of times," said Capt. William Crombie of East Longmeadow, Mass.

"One rocked its wings. I was told after I landed that that was the international signal to land, but in the American and British air forces that means assembly."

"I did not know what they meant. They kept diving at us and pulling away."

Crombie recalled that he had flown over Marshal Tito's country during the war to drop sorely needed supplies, but this was his first flight over the Vienna-Udine route, on which a second unarmed U. S. army transport was shot down last Monday with possibly five American fatalities.

OPA Today Authorizes Some Price Increases Immediately

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—(P)—OPA today authorized retail price increases for tires, cotton hosiery, bedspreads, table cloths, napkins and other items.

Rushing to restore dealers' profit margins of last March 31 in the time allotted by congress, OPA boosted tire prices about 2 1/2 per cent.

Under the same provision of the new price control law, ceilings on cotton hosiery and anklets were raised about 5 per cent, while an increase of approximately 20 per cent was authorized for cotton bedspreads, table cloths and napkins.

OPA also permitted higher prices for handkerchiefs, men's waterproofed cotton protective garments and for some part-wor blankets. On these, each seller will compute his own increase under a formula provided by OPA.

The tire increase came as OPA hurried to meet a deadline for price increases required by the new statute. Most of these increases must be in effect by tomorrow.

Earlier in the day, the agency granted retail price increases ranging from one to three per cent on several kinds of building materials and otherwise adjusted ceilings.

All Sales
The price boost, on tires was allowed both on sales by retail dealers and on all sales at retail by wholesale distributors.

The new retail ceiling for the popular size, 6.00-16 four-ply passenger car tire is $16.00, as compared with $15.70 previously.

OPA also granted a six per cent price increase at all sales levels for toilet tissue and paper towels to offset higher production costs.

Manufacturers' ceilings on eye glass lenses were raised 22 per cent, but OPA said this increase "will have little effect" on eye glass prices.

The increases for toilet tissue, paper towels and lenses were granted under provisions of the price control act which were in effect prior to June 30.

Effective Immediately

The higher ceilings on building materials, effective immediately, meet a requirement of the new law that dealers' profit margins be restored to the level of last March 31.

The increases cover asphalt and tar roofing products, vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied products manufactured in the east central and eastern areas; Portland cement produced in Southern California, asbestos cement roofing shingles and siding shingles, metal lath, New Jersey clay building brick, clay drain tile produced in the Ohio-Michigan area, and lead pigments and lead paste products.

Many other price increases—for refrigerators, washing machines, radios, vacuum cleaners and other household items—already are on the books.

The other night it opened up and within three hours the blossom measured over nine inches.

But Mrs. Foote missed it. She is away on vacation.

Tired Prince Testifies of Jewel Theft

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 23—(P)—Tired and balding Prince Wolfgang Von Hesse testified today about the theft of his family's $1,500,000 jewels, for which WAC Capt. Kathleen B. Nash Durant is on trial.

On cross examination, the defense asked this great grandson of Queen Victoria if in fact he had not abandoned the treasure in October, 1944, when he buried the gems in the basement of the stately Kronberg castle, which Mrs. Nash managed as an officers' club.

"No, in my opinion, I put the jewels in a safer place than any bank," he replied. He admitted that though he was custodian of the jewels, he did not live or sleep in the castle where they were hidden but in a villa in the castle grounds.

He hardly had bowed to the court and taken the stand before the counsel for the defendant questioned his qualifications as a responsible witness, asking whether he knew what the oath meant and whether he belonged to the outlawed storm troopers. Prosecution objections were sustained.

May Introduce Statement

Mrs. Durant, 43, was married shortly before her arrest in the United States to Col. Jack W. Durant of Chicago, 36, also held in the case. Major David F. Watkins of Burlingame, Calif., likewise faces charges.

The prosecution alleges that the former manager of the Phoenix, Arizona, Country club had ordered a German employee of the House of Hesse to empty a safe in Kronberg castle and hand over its contents.

The prosecution indicated that it would introduce as evidence a "voluntary statement" which Captain Durant allegedly made after her arrest in connection with the theft of a lead-covered box of glittering gems from the basement of the castle.

Democrats are Aroused Over Budget Clash

Some Join GOP Members; Claim Act Is Not Legal

By Clair Johnson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—(P)—President Truman, who already has crossed verbal swords with Republicans over his budget revision, today faced a major row with some of his party leaders over the same issue.

The Democrats are aroused by a $200,000,000 slash they contend he ordered in expenditures for flood control and rivers and harbors projects for the fiscal years 1947 and 1948.

Four key party members in congress issued a statement terming the presidential action "without either constitutional or statutory authority x x x and in defiance of the will of congress."

They described it further as "an assumption of unwarranted and drastic power" and issued a call for a national protest meeting in New Orleans September 20.

The four are: Senate President McCallister (D-Tenn.); Acting Chairman Mansfield (D-Texas) of the house rivers and harbors committee; and Chairman Whitington (D-Miss) of the house flood control committee.

Nation Aroused

Overton, who made public the statement by the four, told a reporter that "the nation is aroused" by the cutback and said "we are receiving protests from all over the country."

The aroused Democrats invited Republican members of their committee to join them in the protest meeting.

Several Republicans have taken issue with Mr. Truman since he announced his revision of the budget earlier this month in an effort to bring it into balance either this fiscal year or next.

Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) issued a statement contending the new presidential estimates were "misleading either through the use of imagination or imagination."

Critical of Program

Mr. Truman responded at a news conference that Brown had used a $40 word meaning deceit, and the president added that what it all added up to was obfuscation, or a Republican attempt to mess one up.

Later Senator Bridges (R-NH) also criticized the presidential program, terming it a "boom and bust" plan. He commented that the federal budget needs "a sharp presidential tongue."

In their pot-shot at Mr. Truman's fiscal intentions, the four Democrats stated:

"The declared purpose of the president to balance the budget and to create a substantial surplus to be used in the deduction of the national debt cannot, we well be effected by the cancellation of the expenditure of $300,000,000 for urgently needed river and harbor and flood control work, especially in view of the tremendous expenditures amounting to billions of dollars, representing unnecessary extravagances, which have been encouraged and approved by the president."

Capt. William Crombie, East Longmeadow, Mass., the pilot. Cpl. Robert L. Dahlgren, Cicero, Ill., the crew chief.

Cpl. John L. Dick, McKeesport, Pa., radio operator. Lt. Donald E. Carroll, Elgin, Neb., passenger.

The tenth occupant of the plane, a Turkish captain whose name has not been disclosed here, is still in a Yugoslav hospital suffering from wounds received when the plane was fired upon.

United States Senator Frank P. Briggs of Macon was the high bidder Thursday night on the Grand Champion Barrow "Silver Rocket," a Chester White, owned by Donald Arp, FFA member of Brunswick, Mo., at the Missouri State Fair. The champion was sold in front of the grandstand and brought $200.

The Reserve Champion Barrow, owned by D. C. Hunter, 4-H club member of Knob Noster, was purchased by the American Berkshire association for the sum of $250. O. R. Burkett represented the association at this auction.

Asked what he intended to do with his champion, Sen. Briggs replied: "I guess I'll have to eat him."

Moscow Causes Grave Tension

NEW YORK, Aug. 23—(P)—The Moscow radio reported today that Yugoslavia had filed a complaint against the United States with the United Nations security council, but the Yugoslav delegate to the UN said the note merely asked the economic and social council to discuss the question of shipping on the Danube.

Dr. Andrija Stampar, Yugoslav delegate who also is deputy chairman of the economic and social council, said as far as he could "recall" the note did not mention the United States specifically.

He said he had filed the letter with Trygve Lie, UN secretary-general, about two weeks ago and asked that the question be placed on the agenda of the economic and social council which is due to convene here again Sept. 11.

Security council delegations were cheered and somewhat relieved today over Yugoslavia's reaction to the American ultimatum, which promised to save the council from involvement in a heated issue that might well have worsened relations among the United Nations.

Grave tension between Moscow and the western powers was reflected, however, in a statement from the Brazilian delegate sternly announcing Russia and "all her satellites," including Yugoslavia, for using what he called Nazi-Fascist tactics.

The treaty draft approved by the Big Four foreign ministers proposes reparations of $100,000,000 for Russia, and leaves up to the peace conference the matter of making recommendations on claims put forward by France, Yugoslavia, Greece, Albania, Ethiopia, Egypt and other powers.

Favors Easier Reparations

The Australian delegate, Dr. Herbert G. Evatt, told newsmen that he favored an easing of Italy's reparations, and said he had prepared amendments to the proposed treaty designed to limit reparations to the amount Italy could pay without crippling her economy.

Canada, which already has waived claims for reparations against Italy, was reported lining up with the Australian "ability to pay" stand.

Forming New Police 'Club'

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23—(P)—Police affiliated with the St. Louis Police union, threatened with dismissal from the police force unless they withdraw, were instructed today to report they had "severed their connections" with the organization, a union official said.

"The union decided to operate on the same principles as the underground operated against Hitler's gestapo in Europe," said Richard T. Miller, president of the local unit of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFLE).

Miller said that in place of the union a new police "shield club" will be formed and the names of its members kept secret.

The Board of Police Commissioners recently ordered all policemen who are members of the union to withdraw by August 30 or face possible dismissal from the force. The union has claimed as members about half of approximately 2,600 police department employees who are eligible.

The party had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Kemper at the Administration building Thursday evening.

Fraternizing Is Natural
TOKYO, Aug. 23.—(P)—The army newspaper Stars and Stripes today quoted a visiting St. Louis pastor as saying fraternization with Japanese girls "is natural." "He personally did not blame American soldiers for it," the paper said in its interview with Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, pastor of the Third Baptist church of St. Louis. He is visiting Japan at the invitation of the war department as a representative of the Federated Churches of Christ. The story quoted Dr. Johnson as adding: "It will be difficult for me to tell Americans at home, who do not understand conditions here, that many Japanese girls come from excellent homes and good families."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"LOVE" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 4, 1946.

Golden Text: II Corinthians 13: 11. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear. He that feareth is not made perfect in love." (I John 4:18). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Every trial of our faith in God makes us stronger. The more difficult seems the material condition to be overcome by Spirit, the stronger should be our faith and the purer our love. The Apostle John says: 'There is no fear in Love, but perfect Love casteth out fear.' He that feareth is not made perfect in Love." Here is a definite and inspired proclamation of Christian Science. Our Part In The Future

The tragedy of war is not alone in the lives sacrificed and the material losses suffered. No less terrible are the repercussions of fear that may haunt the lives even of generations not yet born. Of all the dismal aftermaths of war, fear, suspicion and distrust among nations and individuals are the most discouraging.

The seed of fear planted during the six years of the second world war are already bearing fruit. Who is to offer consolation and reassurance to a world filled with doubt and anxiety? Who is to speak optimistically when pessimism writes its headlines on the front page of every newspaper?

No one can predict the future. But there is no need to feel that men are hopeless before the future. This much at least can be done: we can begin at once to strengthen the peace we now enjoy; we can resolve, individually, to do what is in our power to stamp out the evils from which war grows.

We can become better Christians, loyal to God and loyal to our fellow-men. We can show a true brotherhood in our dealings with men or other races and religions. We can support movements to combat intolerance, to tear down slums, to improve the condition of underprivileged workers. We can take steps to assure that every child will have a healthy environment in which to grow and be trained not only to love his own country but to understand and appreciate the peoples of other nations.

We can become apostles of good will and tolerance at home and abroad. We can help to rout fear by cultivating courage and holding fast to our conviction that good will among men everywhere is not an impossible ideal. We can become part of that leaven that will inspire mankind to nobler concepts of human living and to greater devotion to those principles of justice, charity and compassion which alone can build a future fit for our children.

The Proper Use of Property

Scripture: Exodus 20:15; Proverbs 30:7-9, Matthew 6:25-33

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

No issue is more vital today than that concerning the proper use of property. It underlies the many disputes and contentions between individuals, it is at the bottom of most phases of the conflict between capital and labor and it has been one of the major causes of war between nations.

The prospect for both industrial peace and international peace depends, in the final analysis, upon the apprehension of the right use of property.

We are a long way from that apprehension of present, though we have made more progress toward it than the world's current strifes would seem to indicate. Within the memory of many of us now living, there has come about a great challenge, if not a great change.

Not so long ago, the dominant feeling about property was, "It's mine, and I shall do what I please with it." That feeling no longer prevails. Apart from any consideration of the rising tax-rate, the acquisition and use of wealth are subject to social challenge as never before.

Peoples and nations still grab for possessions, but the imperialism which was once a matter of pride without regard to its inherent right must now justify itself before the world.

We have still a long way to go, however. The commandment "Thou shalt not steal" must become socialized and stealing must be defined in relation to basic honesty and justice.

But the teaching of Jesus concerning the right use of property goes beyond fundamental honesty. It relates one's possessions to character, ideals, and the statement of the highest and best in life.

There is a progression in the three passages associated with today's lesson. Exodus 20:15 is on the basic plane; one must not take what doesn't belong to him. In Proverbs 30:7-9 one discovers that the selfish use of possessions is self-injuring and that there is a corrupting danger in possessing more wealth than one needs.

But the Master's words, in Matthew 6:25-33, go beyond this, pointing to the higher and better riches of the Kingdom of God, viewing all possessions in relation to the highest possession of all.

The world is indeed a long way from the true Christian concept of property's value and proper use. But many individuals have discovered that in that concept is the true secret of happiness and satisfaction.

Baptist Church Youth Service

The third in the series of services in which the young people of the church take charge of the Sunday evening worship hour will be held in the First Baptist church this Sunday evening, August 25, at 8 o'clock. These meetings in the past have been very well attended and the response from the young people has been very gratifying.

While the program for the entire day is for the purpose of encouraging the young people in their participation in the services, the evening hour in particular is under the direction of the youth of the church. This Sunday evening talks on the subject, "The World Today: It's Challenge To Youth" will be given by Miss Audrey Jean Parker, Eugene Collins, and Ralph Guenther. Special music will be furnished by Jack Fuqua, baritone, who will sing Malotte's "Twenty-third Psalm." The young people will also furnish the choir and be in charge of the ushering.

Following the worship service a sing-spiration and fellowship hour will be held in the basement of the church. Bob Wild will be in charge of the song service and Rev. G. M. Baker will bring a short devotional. The men's quartet of the church will bring special selections, and refreshments will be served. The young people of the community are invited to attend these services.

entertained with a family dinner Sunday the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clevenger and children, Billy, Marjorie and Ernest; Mr. and Mrs. John Thacker and daughters, Bonnie and Mary, of Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanoy and children, Ernestine, Janet, Louise and J. B., and Mrs. Mattie Clevenger.

Miss Carol Benton, of Temple City, Cal., and Mr. Doyle Thompson were married June 7 at the Church of God in Pasadena, Cal., and spent their honeymoon at Santa Catalina Island, off the coast of California. They are making their home in Los Angeles. Mr. Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Thompson.

Members of the Bennett Home Improvement club and their families enjoyed a picnic at the park in Windsor Sunday, August 11. The afternoon was spent in visiting and boat riding. The young people attended the picture show. Mrs. A. C. Reed will be hostess of the next regular meeting.

Gerald Smith, who has been serving with the occupational forces in Italy the past eight months, has arrived in New York City. After receiving his discharge at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., he will join his family at his home in Green Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Freeman, of Grand Junction, Colo., are the parents of a son born August 10, which they have named Douglas Kemp. Mrs. Freeman is the former Mrs. C. E. Freeman.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Ed. Note — This is the last of Drew Pearson's columns on the tense relations between the USA and the USSR and what can be done to prevent war.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 — I suspect a lot of people are getting bored at my continued writing about our tangled foreign relations and the fact that the Paris peace conference is doing so little to unravel them.

However, the unmistakable impression of the observer at Paris is that though the Russian people don't want war and though the last thing the American people want is war, both are slowly edging in that direction—despite themselves. So perhaps it is better to face these facts now than regret them later.

One of the few men bold enough to face the facts is Dr. Harold Urey, famed atom scientist, who recently pointed out that the alternative to international control of the atomic bomb is an early war by which the United States would secure control of the world, or a later war which would end civilization.

This column has suggested a less drastic program for heading off war which can be summarized as follows:

Program for Peace

1. The USA to avoid being the tail on the British foreign office kite, cooperating 100 per cent with the United Nations instead, and building it up to a position of genuine world strength.
2. No appeasement of Russia. Make it clear that the first aggressive step taken by the Kremlin will be the last. Now that the United Nations has been organized, there is no reason why the Russians should not submit their dispute with Turkey to the U.N. That's what we fought this war for — to set up a world organization of peace and the Russians should be reminded of the fact. So should the British.
3. International control of the atom. The United States has taken an important step toward atom control by offering to share our knowledge — provided the atom is governed by majority vote, not the veto. The Russians so far have refused.
4. Cultivate the friendship of the Russian people—regardless of their government.

Congress Discourages Friendship

Of this four-point program, the most important of all is friendship. Friendship is the chief reason there never will be a war between the British and American people. We know each other so well that we can understand each other's faults. Our common language is one of the biggest aids to this understanding.

But because there is no common language between ourselves and the Russians, we have to work harder at friendship. So far the United States has done little; the Russians far less.

So far the state department has proposed news and cultural programs for Russia on a limited scale, has even made a small start in this direction. But it has had to work in the face of a reluctant congress. Even with Secretary of State Byrnes in Paris, Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the foreign relations committee and supposed to be an enlightened statesman, failed to press passage during the closing days of the last congress of the state department's program for exchanging students and promoting cultural relations.

Russia Bans Friendship

The greatest obstacle to American-Russian friendship, however, is the Soviet government itself. There was a time when this was not the case. When Maxim Litvinov was foreign minister and later ambassador in Washington, the Soviet permitted foreigners inside Russia, while the Soviet embassy staff in Washington mingled freely with Americans. Ex-Ambassador Troyanovsky, for instance, was a great bridge playing friend of Jesse Jones, Mrs. William E. Borah, and various other capital bigwigs.

Today Troyanovsky is relegated to a minor clerkship in Moscow while Litvinov is out of favor. A new Kremlin policy is in vogue—a policy of permitting no

CECILY lost some of her poise when we came in. "I didn't know mother had asked you," she said, and it was apparent that this surprise was not a pleasant one.

Watching her covertly I thought that she had certainly gone all out for superficial charm. She hung on Steve adoringly, she made moves and pretty gestures, she was as completely unlike herself as Della was unlike Corinna. And she avoided all three of us, especially Corinna, after her first awkward greetings.

Della, of course, was too busy to pay any attention to us even if she had felt that we were important enough to warrant it. The sorority girls looked at Corinna curiously, no doubt wondering why she should be there.

At any rate, before 10 minutes had passed Corinna made up her mind to have none of the party, and she went off to sulk by herself in a corner chair, scaring off the young men who would have liked to pay her attention.

Mr. Ralston and Robert had begun what was patently an absorbing discussion of community affairs. Cecily was trying desperately to cover up for Della who was giving Mrs. Ralston a letting alone to repay her for years of like treatment.

I sat in a chair by the big front window looking the scene over as if it were a play for which I had paid more than I could afford for admittance.

There were masses of tall yellow candles everywhere standing deep in clustered crimson roses and fern. Places had been laid for 24 at the table in the big dining room and on each napkin was a rose tied with a white satin bow. The bows were attached to streamers which circled out from the great frosted cake occupying the nose for emergency help. Even Della's servants had their day with her. I wondered when mine would come.

The interminable cocktails consumed, the guests were invited to the table. We found place cards which seated the three Wynnes together in a tight bloc across from the older Ralstons, the cake like a wall between us.

Steve's hand lingered intimately on Cecily's bare shoulder after he had seated her. She glanced up at him provocatively. My hands itched for her. I could see Val sitting on a cot in some desolate barracks, eating his heart out in loneliness and disgrace while Cecily quivered here in luxury.

Cecily said in her gay, careless voice, taking up the rose on her napkin, "There's something in the cake for each of you," and pulled on her streamer. The rest of us emulated her—all but Corinna, whose streamer was left conspicuously running to the cake through the rest of the evening.

From beneath the false top of the highest tier little heart-shaped lockets flashed on the ends of the ribbons.

"Open them!" Cecily commanded merrily.

We all complied. Inside their names were inscribed—one on each heart, "Cecily-Steve." It had come at last—the long expected announcement of their engagement.

The guests made a general noisy stampede for the affianced couple, and there was much kissing and hand shaking. I found myself with my eyes riveted to those two names in the locket and the letters jiggled crazily because of my tears and the trembling of my hand. Della had won. Cecily was irrevocably lost to me.

I forgot Della, and Corinna and Robert—everything but my own personal tragedy. I doubt if I made even a pretense of eating. No one except Robert and Corinna noticed, and certainly no one cared. There was plenty of vivacity all around me.

I endured the entire evening because I hoped for just a moment alone with Cecily after the other guests had left.

social intercourse between the Russian people and the western world.

If Russian officers in Germany or Austria become too friendly with American officers, suddenly they are warned by the NKVD (secret police) to keep to themselves.

In Moscow the American embassy has begged the Soviet government to permit the extensive circulation of the state department's propaganda magazine, "Amerika," a picture book printed in Russian which is tremendously popular and has proved an eye-opener to the Russian people. However, the Kremlin permits only 50,000 copies monthly to be seen by Russians.

Meanwhile Moscow conducts a skillful propaganda campaign not only in Russia but in Czechoslovakia and other satellite countries aimed at stirring up suspicion against the western world. According to the Moscow radio, the United States had no part in the war against Japan, won Alaska from Russia by an American trick, and lynchings and riots are staged in the USA almost every day.

This anti-American propaganda may have behind it a sense of insecurity on the part of the little group of men inside the Kremlin. But whatever its motive it is not the act of a friendly nation.

Soviet Showdown

Thus our showdown with the Soviet might start at exactly this point: Are we or are we not going to be friends? If so, let's begin working at it. Let's begin by exchanging several thousand Russian and American students, by permitting the entry of books and magazines, scientists and newspapermen. Let's begin to be friends.

That question — as to whether Russia really wants friendship — ought to be asked soon, and in no uncertain terms, by the high officials of the American government. Furthermore, at first we should not take no for an answer. We should be just as persistent in peace as in war.

If in the end it becomes clear that Russia does not want friendship, then it will be time to ex-

Some Changes On Deferments
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23—(P)—Selective service Thursday night softened its previously announced tough draft policy by allowing local boards to defer college professors, home builders and certain production and transportation workers.
The changes will be effective when actual induction is resumed Sept. 1 after a draft holiday that extended through July and August.
When Congress refused to permit induction of 16-year-olds before it extended peacetime conscription, national selective headquarters here announced it would be forced to induct every possible man between 19 and 29 years in order to fill manpower demands of the armed forces.
With the army holding out for men 29 and younger, selective service figured the whole pool of men available by next spring would produce 155,000 inductees. The new deferment rules cut further into that number. The army estimates it will need 185,000 draftees by that time, barring a big rise in recruitment. Those figures have led to talk—but no agreement—on raising the upper age limit.
Selective service said the changes were recommended by John Steelman, director of war mobilization and reconversion.

State Fair Awards Holstein Dairy
Warren Gifford, Fayetteville, Ark., judge of the 1946 fair Holstein show, praised the quality of animals on exhibit. The calf classes had good numbers, but not all the money was taken in aged competition, according to Olen Monsees, Smithton, superintendent.
The grand champion bull was an entry of Elmwood Farm, Lake Forest, Ill., and an unusual feature was noted in its breeding. His sire and dam were twin brother and sister and these animals in turn sired as to be seven-eighths full brother and sister, to make very intensive blood. Elmwood also showed the junior champion bull, senior champion female, and grand champion female.
Paul Selken Farms, Smithton, won these awards: Missouri classes—3rd bull calf four months to one year; 2nd bull calf one year to 18 months; 1st and 2nd junior get of sire; 2nd cow three to four years; 2nd and 3rd heifer 18 months to two years; 1st cow five years or over; 1st place dairy herd; 1st get of sire; 1st group of three females.
Open classes—6th bull calf, four months to one year; 3rd bull one year to 18 months; 7th heifer one year to 18 months; 2nd and 3rd junior get of sire; 4th cow three to four years; 4th and 6th heifer 18 months to two years; 5th heifer two to three years; third dairy herd; 2nd group of three females; 2nd get of sire; 5th produce of dam.
Charles Nuzum, Sedalia, had these prize winning animals: 4th Missouri class bull calf, four months to one year; fifth Missouri class and 7th open class heifer, 18 months to two years.
Marcus Orend of Stover, had a fourth place cow in the Missouri class for five-year-olds and over.

The American Dairy Association of Chicago and Missouri were congratulated by W. H. E. Reid, dairy products judge at the state fair, for splendid exhibits of milk and milk products at this year's exposition. State Fair Awards Mules
The 1946 Missouri state fair mule show, an exhibition unequalled anywhere in the world, brought out a record coliseum crowd to see the grand champion award go to C. W. Heath, King City, on a four-year-old male mule, also champion of females.
E. D. Frazier and Son, Drexel, had a champion horse mule on a two-year-old.
Roy G. Johnston, Belton, Mo., judge of the show, said it was the most difficult show he ever judged because of the top quality of each individual animal and many good ones had to be left out. Kansas and Iowa were represented with some of their best.
Climaxing the day was competition in the two and four hitch classes, with the judge letting them go amid the applause of the ringside fans. E. D. Frazier & Son won the pair with a team of iron grays, and C. W. Heath placed first with a foursome of sorrels, after giving the crowd a thrill when the four competitors let them go around the arena at a dead run.

The soldier, who was brought to the Nevada hospital by sheriff Leslie K. Hunt, said he and another soldier speculated on "what it would be like to fall off a train" before they went to sleep in their berth, and the next thing he remembered he was "flying through the air."
Hospital attendants said Grimsley was badly skinned but apparently had suffered no serious injury.
